Global Health in Local Contexts: A Transnational Experiential Course on the Social Determinants, Health Equity, and Leading Change

GHSR 6713 – Fall 2021
Credit and non-credit options

Wednesdays, 5:30 – 8:30 pm
Select Saturdays, 9 – 11 am

Details & application on our website.

globalhealthcenter.umn.edu/global-health-local-context

This course immerses learners in the study of health equity, the social and structural determination of health, and leadership for change. The course uses an experiential and inter-professional model.

This year’s course will offer a unique opportunity for students to co-learn with peers in Uganda and Haiti who will be engaged in parallel, geographically-based sub-courses.

Global, collaborative participation will promote understanding of the ways in which globally-connected social forces impact experience in local settings in similar and different ways.